Today, more than 1.9 million people live in Riverside County. By 2020, this population will increase by almost 50%. With such a dramatic increase:

- How will we house these future residents?
- What types of housing will meet their needs?
- Will decent housing be within reach of all County residents?
- What tools must we develop now to meet those future needs?
- What should we expect from government agencies?
- What should we expect from builders and developers?

Spend a day with us and find out some of the answers to these questions and more.
