S. David Freeman
President, Los Angeles Harbor Commission, Former California Energy Czar

S. David Freeman is president of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, an author and former California Energy Czar. As president of the Board of Harbor Commissioners, he partnered with the Long Beach Board of Harbor Commissioners to approve the landmark San Pedro Bay Ports Clean Air Action Plan in November 2006. He was appointed in 2001 as senior energy advisor to Gov. Gray Davis. He has a 30-year history as a board member and manager of many of America's largest publicly-owned businesses and power authorities. He has won awards from the Los Angeles Coalition for Clean Air, the National Wildlife Association and Global Green for his devotion to clean air, clean water and renewable energy. He is the author of "Winning Our Energy Independence: An Energy Insider Shows How."
