The equality which has been seemingly won requires suspension of critique of patriarchal hegemonic masculinities, suggesting the further decline of feminism.

Angela McRobbie is the author of many books and articles on young women and popular culture, also on new cultural economies, and on recent directions in feminist theory. She was trained and produced her early work at the Birmingham Centre for Contemporary Cultural Studies. Her most recent book is The Uses of Cultural Studies Sage 2005. She is currently writing a book titled Post-feminist Disorder: Gender Culture and Social Change (Sage 2006).
