UC Global Health Day

Tuesday, November 30, 2010
9:30am–4:30pm
University of California, Irvine

Join UC faculty, students, and staff at the first annual University of California Global Health Day to learn about the innovative global health work taking place on the ten UC campuses.

- Find out about global health programs underway at the UC campuses and about how UC education, service, and research impacts health around the world.
- Learn from keynote speakers and UC faculty and trainees through presentations and posters.
- Participate in a UC-wide global health photo contest.

To submit an abstract, to register for UC Global Health Day, or for more information, visit the UCGHI website at: ucghi.universityofcalifornia.edu.

Abstracts must be submitted by September 30.

QUESTIONS? Email: ucglobalhealthday@gmail.com.

Sponsors: UC Global Health Day is co-sponsored by the UC Global Health Institute and the University of California Office of the President through the Office of Health Sciences and Services, and the Office of Research and Graduate Studies.
