

Courage to Care

with

Dr. Carolyn Cornelison

Carolyn Cornelison was a successful student leader as a student-athlete and sorority member. But it wasn't until tragedy struck with one of her sorority sisters that she realized how important it is to communicate openly and honestly with those we care about. She has shared her story at over 1,000 campuses, and it is so powerful and uplifting that the Lifetime Movie Network has made a television movie about it. Come find out why it's so important to look out for the people we care about.
