

Graduate Writing Center Winter Workshops

Register through the UCR GradSuccess appointment system:
ucr.mywconline.com

Academic Reading Strategies

January 6, 2-2:50pm

Join us to learn concrete strategies for reading academic work more efficiently and effectively to succeed in grad school.

How to Write a Literature Review

January 11, 12-12:50pm

Learn why literature reviews are important in academic writing and how to research, organize, and draft an effective review.

English Grammar Refresher

January 19, 10-10:50am

Learn the basic grammatical concepts of English including sentence structure, prepositions, article usage, and tips for expanding a discipline-specific vocabulary.

Writing a Successful Abstract

January 27, 4-4:50pm

Need to write an abstract but not sure what to include? This workshop provides a detailed overview of the necessary components for a successful abstract.

CHASS Article Structure

February 1, 3-3:50pm

While some journals have their own unique format, there are some key components all journal articles will contain. Come learn about these key components to begin your writing process!

Writing Concisely

February 17, 2-2:50pm

Concise writing helps you communicate your ideas clearly and effectively. This workshop discusses strategies for eliminating excessive wordiness, improving clarity, and revising passive voice to make your writing stand out.

