

Postdoctoral Recruitment Initiative in Science and Medicine

Stanford PRISM

PRISM Dates:
May 5-7, 2021

Application Due:
April 12, 2021

<http://postdocs.stanford.edu/PRISM>

Stanford PRISM is an opportunity for late-stage graduate students from broadly diverse backgrounds to explore postdoctoral training at Stanford.

Benefits:

- Discuss shared research interests with faculty
- Get the inside scoop on postdoctoral training from current postdocs
- Learn how to choose the right postdoc for you

Application Includes:

- Research Statement & CV
- Recommendation from your grad advisor
- Names of up to 6 potential Stanford faculty mentors

Who Should Apply:

Advanced graduate students who:

- expect to complete their PhD by August 2022
- wish to continue their training as postdoctoral scholars

We welcome applications from all interested students and especially encourage individuals from groups underrepresented in academia to apply. These groups include, but are not limited to: African Americans, Latinos, Native Americans, Pacific Islanders, and those with disabilities, first generation college goers, sexual and gender minorities, and those from disadvantaged socio-economic backgrounds. Priority may go to US Citizens and Permanent Residents.

PRISM is a University-wide recruitment initiative to enhance diversity among the postdoc population. There are no fellowship funds attached to PRISM. The following fellowship programs may be of interest to PRISM applicants.
