

EAT YOUR CATFISH DOCUMENTARY SCREENING

Kathryn's ALS has left her paralyzed and her family's relations in tatters, but she holds on to see her daughter's wedding. With dark humor and extraordinary intimacy, this film probes the breakdown of a family's bonds and of a woman's will to live. (74 minutes)

Followed by talkback and reception in the Culver Center Atrium with filmmaker Noah Amir Arjomand, a UCR screenwriting MFA student.

APRIL 27, 3:30 @ UCR ARTS CULVER CENTER, 3834 MAIN ST, RIVERSIDE

with discussants Carla Mazzio, Professor of English and Co-Director of Health Humanities & Disability Justice Initiative, and Ruhi Khan, Associate Professor of Media & Cultural Studies
