

SCICOMM@UCR PRESENTS... UNDERGRADUATE MENTORSHIP PROGRAM FOR THIS ACADEMIC SCHOOL YEAR 2024/2025

Starting in the fall we will have a casual year long (October 2024 - June 2025) science communication mentorship program between graduate students and undergraduate students.

The whole experience is supposed to be fairly informal and ultimately aimed at giving undergraduates exposure to the world of science communication. Below are some optional expectations, however, it is up to you and your mentor to set expectations that work with your schedules and goals.

- (1) Create a final project such as a popular science piece (or another medium)
- (2) Help you publish the piece (great for your resume!)
- (3) Attend local SciComm related events throughout the year
- (4) Meet with your mentor once or twice a month

Please fill out the below form if you are interested in joining the mentorship program by October 20th, 2024 and we will pair you with a graduate student. Feel free to share this with anyone else you think may be interested. Note this program is not exclusive to natural science undergraduates as social science undergraduates are welcomed to sign up as well.
