Teaching Assistant Development Program
Fall 2021 Workshops: Humanizing Teaching and Learning

Best Hybrid Teaching Practices

Monday, October 4 from 2:00 - 3:00 PM

We are all relatively new to hybrid teaching. Come join us to learn how to harness the best parts of online and in-person teaching in this new hybrid environment.

Student Centered Teaching

Wednesday, October 13 from 1:00 - 2:00 PM

Your students aren't robots or Zoom screens! Our week three workshop will focus on student-centered teaching practices to help us best meet our students' learning needs.

Rethinking Student Participation

Monday, October 18 from 2:00 - 3:00 PM

Re-entering an in-person teaching environment has changed many things, including student participation. This week, we will discuss rethinking what counts as participation.

Grading and Time Management

Monday, October 25 from 2:00 - 3:00 PM

Throughout in-person and online learning, one thing has remained consistent: our need to grade student work. Come join us for grading and time management tips that are especially useful now we are on campus.

Becoming an Approachable Instructor

Wednesday, November 10 from 1:00 - 2:00 PM

We are also not robots and Zoom screens. Let's help our students see that in our workshop this week.

Mind Mapping as Teaching

Monday, November 15 from 2:00-3:00 PM

We've all made a mind map for something. What if we could utilize that tool in our teaching? Learn how in this workshop!

All workshops available online via Zoom
To sign up visit: https://ucr.mywconline.com/
Questions? Email tadp@ucr.edu

GradSuccess