

Gender and Political Psychology Conference
February 3, 2022; Student Success Center Room 1
Presenting co-author indicated with a *

- 8:30-9:00: Check-in, Continental Breakfast, and Welcome
- 9:00-9:45: Monica Schneider and Jennie Sweet-Cushman*, “An evaluation of how women's leadership programs change perceptions of political careers and affect ambition”
Discussant: Rachel VanSickle-Ward
- 9:50-10:35: Mirya Holman*, Constantine Boussalis and Travis Coan, "Mad, sad (but mostly) glad: how gender shapes how Members of Congress display emotions and how voters react"
Discussant: Jennifer Merolla
- 10:40-11:10: Bianca Vicuña, “Psychological Mechanisms Explaining Latina Attitudes Towards Gender Equality”
- 11:15-12:00: Jane Junn*, Kayla Wolf and Laura Brisbane, “Why Women Voted for Trump: Disaggregating within Gender to Reveal Support of Patriarchy”
Discussant: Miguel Carreras
- 12:00-1:00: Lunch
- 1:00-1:45: Chanita Intawan and Alexander Theodoridis*, “Does Democrat = Feminine and Republican = Masculine?”
Discussant: Nichole Bauer
- 1:50-2:35: Maricruz Osorio, ““Courageous Citizenship: Risk Assessment and Citizenship Status in Immigrants’ Political Participation”
Discussant: Ivy Cargile
- 2:40-3:25: Sara Morell, “How Women’s Candidate Training Organizations Discuss and Address Racial Barriers to Running for Office”
Discussant: Nick Weller
- 3:25-3:40: Coffee Break
- 3:40-4:10: Ding Wang* and Sean Long, “Expecting the Political? The Effect of Pregnancy Centers on Women’s Political Behavior”
- 4:15-5:00: Jennifer Lucas and Heather Silber-Mohammed and Michael Strawbridge*, “Racial Resentment, Gender Attitudes, and the Preservation of the White Heteropatriarchy”
Discussant: Christian Phillips