TEEN FILM SOCIETY

FREE SOLO

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11
7 PM - 8 PM

Teen Film Society is a virtual discussion space and community for teenagers with a shared love of film and art. Teens help lead the group and explore important themes, meanings, social ideas and film related topics. This winter quarter, Teen Film Society, explores the documentary Free Solo in which young rock climber Alex Honnold attempts to become the first person to free solo El Capitan. Central themes of this session will be embracing dreams, the American wilderness, respecting alternative opinions and the choices we make in life.

FREE TO ATTEND AND RSVP REQUIRED.

Please contact Carl Dugdale, Youth Programs Coordinator at UCR Recreation, to reserve a place or find out more information: carl.dugdale@ucr.edu

Disclaimer: Common sense media suggests the film is suitable for young people aged 11+. The film may have themes that some participants may find upsetting.
