

Stanford PRISM

Stanford PRISM is an opportunity for late-stage graduate students from broadly diverse backgrounds to explore postdoctoral training at Stanford.

Benefits:

- Discuss shared research interests with faculty
- Meet current Stanford postdocs
- Get the inside scoop on postdoctoral training
- Learn how to get the right postdoc for you

Virtual Events: October 7-10, 2020

Who Should Apply:

Advanced graduate students who:

- expect to complete their PhD in 2020-2021
- wish to continue their training as postdoctoral scholars

We welcome applications from all interested students and especially encourage individuals from groups underrepresented in academia to apply. These groups include, but are not limited to: African Americans, Latinos, Native Americans, Pacific Islanders, those with disabilities, first generation college-goers, and those from disadvantaged socio-economic backgrounds. Priority may go to US citizens and permanent residents.

Application Due
Sept 15, 2020

For more information see <http://postdocs.stanford.edu/PRISM>

Application Includes:

- Research Statement and CV
- Recommendation from your Graduate Advisor
- Names of up to 6 potential Stanford faculty mentors
